CANADIAN NORTHERN TO FOLLOW ROUTE OF A. & G. W.

According to Sir William Mackenzie, President of Road, Who is Visiting in City

LEGISLATURE WILL BE ASKED FOR CHARTER

When the House Meets This Fall—Waterways Litigation May Affect Commencement of Construction Next Year.

Evidence supporting the theory that Premier Sifton will introduce a Canadian Northern railway bill for the Fort McMurray country when the legislature convenes this fall is increasing. Sir William Mackenzie, who is visiting to Edmonton this morning on his way east from the coast, told a Capital reporter who interviewed him that he had seen Premier Sifton in the east when the premier was on his way thence from the coast. Sir William declined to say whether or not a railway policy for the Fort McMurray country was discussed but he explained that about the proposed lines which the C.N.R. at the next session of the legislature will make application to build according to advertisements now appearing in the Edmonton Bulletin he said he presumed that the line described as running from a point at or near Edmonton west of Lac La Poudre to a point on a road branching off from the Athabasca Landing line now under construction, toward Fort McMurray, would follow the route of the defunct Alberta and Great Waterways railway.

"Will the construction of this line be proceeded with next summer?" Sir William was asked.

"There are matters in connection with the other line to be straightened out," he replied, explaining that he referred to the Alberta and Great Waterways railway in speaking of "the other line."

In reply to a question as to whether litigation in connection with the Alberta and Great Waterways railway would affect the C.N.R. company's program of construction on the C.N.R. line to Fort McMurray, Sir William answered that he did not expect it would make any material difference with it.

The line to Fort McMurray for which the C.N.R. will make application to build at the next session of the Alberta legislature is described in two clauses of an advertisement appearing from time to time in one of the local papers as follows:

(1) From a point on the Edmonton and Slave Lake railway between the city of Edmonton and the Athabasca Landing, thence in a generally northeasterly direction to a point on the Athabasca river at or near Fort McMurray.

(2) From a point at or near Edmonton, thence in a northerly and easterly direction passing West of Lac La Poudre to a point on the line described in paragraph (1).

EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY OWEED.

CASE OF MAY VS. GRIESBACH, LIBEL ACTION, STARTS TOMORROW IN COURT CLERK'S OFFICE.

Further developments in the libel suit brought against W. A. Griesbach, the Conservative candidate, by Charles May, editor of the Edmonton Bulletin, will take place in the office of the clerk of the district court tomorrow at 10 o'clock, when both plaintiff and defendant will appear for examination for discovery.

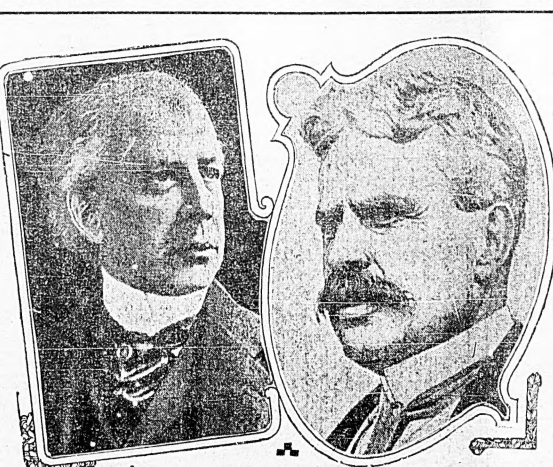

According to the plans of Mr. May's counsel, the examination should be in the first place notified Mr. Griesbach that the examination for discovery would not be necessary, subsequently a summons was served upon the Conservative candidate, and on this morning C. A. Grant, who is acting with Mr. Mackinnon, declined to allow the examination to proceed owing to Mr. Griesbach's absence.

An adjournment was accordingly made until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock when W. A. Griesbach and Charles May will be examined. O. F. Newell is active for Mr. Griesbach.

DAUGHTER OF MICHIGAN'S GOVERNOR TO WED

Suit St. Mary, Mich., Sept. 19.—Edwidge preparations have been completed for the wedding of Miss Emily P. Osborn, daughter of Governor and Mrs. Charles S. Osborn, and Richard Sanderson of Huley Park, Pa. The ceremony is to take place tomorrow evening in St. James' Episcopal Church of this city. Among the guests will be a number of prominent society people from out of town.

RUSSIAN DETECTIVES ARE SEARCHING FOR PLEDGED ASSASSINS

Man Who Murdered Premier Stolypin States that Shot Was Intended for the Czar—Member of Famous Third Section Ransacking Homes for Accomplices

(Special to the Capital.)
MOSCOW, Sept. 19.—The residents of Kiev and suburbs are visibly alarmed over the actions of the police, who are swarming into the town in droves. It is said with a view to locating an organized band, the prime object of the leaders, and it is for the purpose of locating these that special forces of the police, the assassin of Premier Stolypin, when placed under the third degree, revealed certain facts regarding the organization as well as the names of the leaders, and it is for the purpose of locating these that special forces of uniformed police, assisted by members of the third section are here today searching homes and business houses.

Bozoff has stated that he was sent to the Municipal theatre with instructions from his superiors to kill the czar. For some reason or other, however, the czar occupied a box to the right, while Stolypin was in the royal box. Bozoff had begun a curtain and between the acts secured a view of the body of the premier and fired. He stated after the shooting that, although he had not accomplished his purpose he had "done some good" in that he had slain the premier. A systematic search from house to house is being made and a number of arrests have been made, several of the parties being prominent officers in civil life.

2000 FOREIGNERS ARE NATURALIZED

MAJORITY OF THESE WILL HAVE VOTES IN THIS CONSTITUENCY AT COMING ELECTION.

Foreign born citizens who play an important role in deciding the election issue in Edmonton on Thursday. Since the beginning of August when the election campaign opened, no fewer than 2,000 papers of naturalization have been received at the office of the supreme court for the judicial district of Edmonton, and while a considerable proportion of these have been taken out by citizens who are not residents in this federal constituency, the federal constituency and judicial district over which the great majority of them are residents either in the city or district.

It has been estimated by the returning officer that some 13,000 persons will be eligible to vote in Edmonton constituency. When it is considered that not only the foreign born citizens who have taken the oath of allegiance during recent weeks, but also a considerable number of those who have been naturalized for some years past, have gained the right to the franchise, the influence of citizens who have made Canada their adopted country, and transferred their allegiance to the Union, it is considered a powerful factor in the local election.

A COLLEGE FOR MILLERS.

State College, Pa., Sept. 19.—A school for millers, said to be the first ever opened in the United States, has been established and will begin its sessions at the Pennsylvania State College, Schuylkill, Pa., tomorrow. The school is to be under the direction of B. W. Dolrick, the college instructor in milling and mill engineering. Applications for admission to the school have been received from prospective millers all over the country.

PAID TWICE AND WILL GO TO FORT

EMPLOYEE HAS NO RIGHT TO ACCEPT NEW PAY IN ERROR SAYS JUDGE.

"The man who accepts payment from his employer a second time, when he knows that he has been paid before, is just as guilty of theft as the man who steals property," said Judge H. C. Taylor in the district court this morning in passing sentence on Frank Bozoff, former cook in Grand Trunk Pacific railway camp, who was convicted of receiving double wages. The amount was $21.83, and for this offense Dean will serve a term of one month in the guard room at Fort Saskatchewan in addition to three which he has spent in custody there while awaiting trial.

Dean received payment for his work from H. G. Jamieson, of the engineering staff of the G. T. P., in small installments. Subsequently the prisoner got a cheque for the full amount, presented it as the company's offer in this city, and received payment. Jamieson on the following day, and the engineer told him to return to the money he had received in overpayment. This he promised to do, but the prisoner conducted his own case. E. B. Goswell, crown prosecutor, appearing for the king, in the return box, then offered an explanation of the affair, alleging that he had intended to return the money, but did not find an opportunity.

"You thought you saw a chance to head the Grand Trunk Pacific out of some money," said his honor in passing sentence, and you took it. The accused has been in prison since June 1, and I shall take this into consideration. I hope this will be a lesson to you, and that you'll be honest in future. I shall not be severe as this is so far as I know a first offense, but shall direct that you be detained at Fort Saskatchewan for one month more."

London, Sept. 19.—It is stated that the Atlantic trade have nearly come to a standstill at the present time, and that the shipping companies are making increased arrangements for an all round increase in passenger rates in order to recoup their losses arising from the recent increase in wages.

CONVENTION OF FIRE CHIEFS

(Special to the Capital.)

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19.—The first session of the annual convention of the International Association of Fire Chiefs was held in the Auditorium this morning with fire chiefs from nearly all of the principal cities of the United States and Canada in attendance. Mayor Sweeney delivered an address of welcome and John Thompson of Toronto, president of the association, presided for the visitors. The convention will continue its sessions four days, the first of which will be devoted to the exhibition of fire apparatus of the most modern pattern and design.

CITY TO WIDEN EDMONTON STREET

SUPERINTENDENT OF THE STREET RAILWAY RECOMMENDS CHANGE IN THE NAME.

At the commission meeting this morning, on motion of the mayor, it was decided to recommend to the city council that steps be taken to provide for the widening of Edmonton Street, from Syndicate to Government Avenue from 23 to 66 feet, so as to make it correspond with the rest of the streets through to First. In the laying out of the street some years ago the property holders on the north side of the twin blocks donated 33 feet to the city, but the property holders on the south side did not give up any property. In carrying out the widening of the street the city will expropriate the 33 feet on the south side and charge these lots up with the expense as a local improvement. The matter will come up at the council meeting tonight.

On recommendation of commission-er Gandy the police department will be asked to pay attention to the numerous obnoxious advertising signs which are nailed in great profusion against the fences in various places in the east end and which, becoming frayed and torn, are a nuisance to wayfarers and their clothes. The owners will have to take them down or pay the cost.

A recommendation from the superintendent of the street railway was read at the commission meeting which proposed changing the name of the Edmonton street railway system, and that as the old sign bears the inscription "Edmonton Roadway Railway," which is incorrect and misleading, now would be a good time to change the name to Edmonton Municipal Railway. As the city is working under a charter granted to certain private citizens for the Strathcona line, however, the city solicitor for an opinion.

On the trouble way riders used by the construction and maintenance department of the street railway there is a sign "Edmonton Street Railway Company," a sign which some eastern mechanic laborers under a misapprehension had placed there. To change this requires no action of the legislature and it will be altered extempore.

RURAL CARRIERS MEET

IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19.—A proposal that rural carriers be permitted to furnish lists of people along their routes to insurance buyers, and the adoption of the domestic parcel post will be discussed at the annual convention of the National Rural Letter Carriers Association, which is in session today. The carriers are of the opinion that these two steps would go to toward clearing up the $250,000 deficit in the mail service.

MILLION DOLLAR CITY HALL IS PLANNED FOR EDMONTON

Sub-Committee Will Recommend to City Council That Immediate Action Be Taken Providing for Construction Next Year

If the ideas and intentions of Mayor Armstrong and the members of the preliminary committee appointed some time ago to deal with the city hall question prevail, Edmonton will next year have under construction a city hall which will cost at least a million dollars and will be without exception the finest municipal pile in Western Canada.

The preliminary committee consists of the mayor, Alderman Grady and Alderman Mould. At the city council meeting this evening they will recommend the appointment of a permanent committee, probability of five, to undertake the construction of a city hall. Into the hands of this committee, if the recommendation is accepted, the vital question of building a city hall will be placed, from the securing of the plots to the last touch of the decorators. It is quite possible that one or more business men will be appointed under the council for the purpose of securing the benefit of technical knowledge of construction plans. The effect of the recommendation will be, practically, that the committee to be appointed by the council be a commission for the purpose of undertaking the construction of a city hall.

The committee will also recommend that the market square site for the city hall site. This recommendation, however, is somewhat in the nature of a formality as it was generally accepted at the time the market was moved to the First Street site. The committee will also recommend that a building site for the city hall be secured on the subject this morning Mayor Armstrong said: "It is my idea that the requirements of the city should be a building site for the city hall. The city council should not spend a million dollars, half of which we should ask the taxpayers to vote in the first place for the purpose of building the central portion of the building, the wings being added at some later date when the requirements of the city demand. Without professing any knowledge of architecture it seems to me that the city council should construct a four-story building in the middle of the market site, facing every street, which would be ample enough for all present requirements, and which could be added to by the future."

As an indication of the crowded state of affairs at the city hall at present a motion at the commission meeting that the city council should be asked to recommend to the city council that the offer of the Edmonton Exhibition Association to rent the city hall for the purpose of the exhibition be accepted. On motion of the mayor, seconded by Alderman Mould, the commission recommended to the city council that the offer of the Edmonton Exhibition Association to rent the city hall for the purpose of the exhibition be accepted. ## ALPINISTS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE ON MT. BLANC

Avalanche, Carrying with It Tons of Ice and Snow, Swept Over Party, But by Miracle None are Seriously Injured—Encounter Many Perils

(Special to the Capital.)
Geneva, Sept. 19.—Twelve alpinists, including a Frenchman, a French party of two guides and eight porters, from Chamouni, had a marvellous escape from death yesterday while climbing Mont Blanc.

The party reached the hut on the Tete Rousse, 10,300 feet high, at 1:30 p.m., and the amateurs, headed by the guide, Michel Simond and Alex Comtet, insisted on continuing the climb further, though it was late in the afternoon and the guides had already consented to take them up the Aiguille du Goûter, where the night was to be spent. At the same time, the guides were warning them of the great risk of avalanches.

Towards 6 o'clock there was a roar like thunder. Twelve alpinists and blocks of ice swept over the alpinists for several minutes, stopping for short intervals of a few seconds and then restarting.

M. Simond's life was saved by his lunge, in which everything was smashed; his brother had his face badly cut and his glasses broken; M. Comtet had his camera carried away and his clothes torn, while a porter had an arm injured. With white faces the alpinists followed the guide of the danger zone, and reached the hut later in safety.

Owing to the fact the Mont Blanc range has been very dangerous during the past few weeks, and avalanches are frequent, the guides have made it a rule to have been killed, as well as three guides, and several have been injured.

(Western Associated Press.)

Tuesday Morning, Sept. 19.—Mellin's advice, that it involves contact between Spaniards and the tribe tribesmen. The latter have made several attacks on the Spanish position. An engagement on September 12 resulted in a victory for the tribesmen who forced the Spanish troops to retire with considerable loss. A small detachment of the tribesmen, who were in the village, captured a large number of rifles.

Forty soldiers are slain and a number of arms captured in brief fight.

These same lands recently stole 10,000 from Don Antonio Montenegro, as Panto Ovejuna. A section of the civil guard has some in pursuit of them, but it is thought that it will be difficult to capture them at the present moment, because the tribesmen are very wary and will protect them through fear of reprisals.

"And I was thinner than you are, Andy, and I worked just as hard."

"Andy, where did you get this old book? Does it belong to him, Mr. Craig?"

"And I used to go and sit under a tree and leave the old mules for a while. Always dreaming, Andy, always dreaming. About books and about life. But not always dreaming. Got to be lively."

The judge pounded on the desk until the officer came in. "Give this book to old Mr. Craig, and clear out!"

Andy took the book and he didn't know a thing. Curious. There was an old man in town who used to talk to him. One day he called me to him and said: "You clear out of here, and start somewhere else. A little help for you." He passed me an envelope, and when I opened it on the way back to the farm, I found a hundred dollars in it. Andy, I was a super-hon boy, too.

"Prigmer than you. And always dreary."
"Prigmer than you?" "Oh, that night and waked to Birmingham."
When the officer opened the door, he called out: "Bring in old man Craig.")
"I'll walk to Birmingham, Andy.
Slept on the way, under a plank wall

Got to dressing harder than ever."

but I'll be damned if I'll see the

"And, the year when I was thirty-

"You ever learn to write, Andy?"

"That's better than I could do at today." "Well, you can't get a lot of them. Readers, spellers, arithmetic book that hundred dollars, I made up my mind to save a hundred."

"The Judge poked his head—the desk—" "Oleer—case is dismissed; send old man Gray home!" And you clear out."

"Save a hundred long ago. Knew it would count in useful some time. You can't win 'em every day. Like to see you these books."

"As they crossed the square, the Judge said:

"What are you doing? Say

Andy, a mile's a fool animal. Always thought so. Drove two miles myself once; and had to wear long boots and a drooping hat. Thinner than you, Andy, and the funniest thing I was that ever went into town."

SITTON'S PROFESSIONS AND HIS ACTIONS CLASH

Expresses Sympathy With Plans of Organized Labor While at Same Time Workmen in Employ of His Government Are Not Receiving Fair Wages

While Premier Sitton was expressing his sympathy with the aims of organized labor, and the elevation of the standard of living which organization of industry may bring before the trades congress in Calgary, laborers on government jobs in this city, on work which comes under the purview of the premier in his capacity as minister of public works, claim that they are receiving less than the recognized fair rate of wages. This stated discrepancy between the premier's professions and the practice which he follows in his own department, was the subject of some discussion at the meeting of the trades and labor council last evening. The general opinion expressed was that Sitton's speech in Calgary was a piece of window dressing only, useful in view of the impending provincial election.

"Premier Sitton expressed his love for laboring men at the Dominion Trades and Labor congress in Calgary. He will now have a chance to show that his affection is genuine by securing for the laborers who are engaged on government jobs the standard rate of wages. As minister of public works he now has a special opportunity to manifest his love in a practical way." These words, the expression of a delegate at the meeting of the Edmonton trades and labor council last evening, found emphatic endorsement from the council, and the suggestion that the government should make good its professions to the payment of fair wages, will be placed in concrete form by the deputy minister by Secretary T. R. Clark.

C.N.R. LEADING G.T.P. IN RACE TO CALGARY

FORMER RAIL GRADING INSIDE LIMITS SOUTHERN G.T.P. STEEL TO RED DEER RIVER.

Calgary, Alberta, September 19.—The race between the C. N. R. and the G. T. P. toward Calgary is becoming warmer every day, and the official being desirous of entering the city first with steel.

The C. N. R. leads in the race in that they have graded to a point of the city limits and within these limits almost as far as the Elbow River. No instructions have been received to prosecute construction or grading work across the river nor have definite orders been received relative to the actual work of construction on the terminal at South-east Avenue.

Steel on the G. T. P. has been laid to the Red Deer River, the bridge spanning that stream is completed and construction between that point and Calgary is well advanced. With the C. N. R., however, actual construction work does not appear to be proceeding with the same speed as the preliminary work.

It is the desire of the officials of both companies to reach Calgary first to secure the tremendous incoming and outgoing traffic of the coming fall and winter is evident from the statements made by everyone connected with both companies, from the presidents down to the freight and passenger traffic managers.

CHARTER S STUMBLING BLOCK

If the city solicitor's interpretation of the city charter is correct the newly formed street railway union can be of little use to the city. The charter has been changed. Such was the opinion expressed at the regular meeting of the trades and labor council last evening by one of the street railway men's representatives. The council decided to engage the services of a solicitor to secure the removal of the clause in the charter to pursue, and a meeting between the street railway men representative, the commissioners and Solicitor Brown will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Debate Campbell, one of the street railway delegates received by the council last evening, laid the case before the council, and the body's stumbling block has been discovered in clause five of the railwaymen's agreement, which provides that any employee may be disciplined without proper investigation, and gives the right of appeal to the city commissioners in such cases. The clause was satisfactory to the superintendent, and to the commissioners, but following their acceptance City Solicitor Brown rendered in opinion to the effect that the clause is contrary to the charter, which provides that any employee, other than a commissioner, may be dismissed without notice at the pleasure of the city.

The meeting this afternoon is ostensibly for the purpose of making the clause in the street railwaymen's agreement conform with the charter. "My opinion is that the charter should be changed to suit that clause," said a delegate. "A committee has been appointed to revise the charter. If clause remains as it is it has been made for us to organize. Another committee has been appointed to revise the clause is contained in the agreement with the telephone employees, and that is another case. It is not a case that holds good for the other."

Discussing the clause which forbids the action of the street railwaymen for failure to equip for work, which are due to their personal negligence, Delegate Campbell declared that the present equipment is in a most unsatisfactory state. Under present conditions, if an employee reports of the bad condition of a car, he was usually told that he himself was liable. "One of the cars, he said, 'You can't stop in a block and a half. I have seen a car stop three days running with a broken window.' There was also a perpetual shortage of sand."

Referring to the recent dismissal of an employee, a complaint of it being made by a citizen, the speaker added that "as things are now, the word of a drunken passenger is taken before that of a sober street railwayman."

Debate Bryden declared that he had always found street railway conductors courteous in their treatment of passengers.

FRED LAKE TO MANAGE LYNN

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 19.—There is a persistent rumor that Fred Lake will be at Lynn next year. The same story was given publicly weeks ago, and there were the usual doubts. But it is true that once again Lake's name is linked with that of the management of the Lynn team. Lake was once an owner in one story, while another is that the present association of the public and the lake was made to manage the team, succeeding Frank J. Leonard. The latter would be the manager.

PROGRESSIVE STEPS IN TRADE CIRCLES

DELEGATE TO TRADES CONGRESS AT CALGARY REPORTS TO LOCAL COUNCIL.

Forty per cent of the members of Trades and Labor congress of Canada are still under the tyranny of the dead past, forty-five per cent have adopted the ideas and advocates the true policy of the future, while some fifteen per cent do not fall into any category, according to Delegate R. G. Hay, who is one of the Edmonton representatives to the congress recently held in Calgary reported to the council yesterday last evening.

Debate Hay declared that many progressive steps had been taken by the congress, and that a progressive tendency was noticeable throughout, boding the impressions of the delegation and outlining the policy adopted by the congress will be submitted at the next regular meeting. In Waters of Vancouver, the new president, and Harcourt, the vice-president, two progressive men had been placed in office, Delegate Hay stated. Ed Drapac was still in office as secretary, but look after the conservative side of things.

The much discussed reciprocity resolution was brought up during the course of the evening. It was pointed out that the congress had decided to take no action. The resolution had been placed on the agenda before the meeting, because a party "reciprocity or no reciprocity affects the workers not at all," was the opinion expressed by the congress last week.

The assistance of building trades union in enforcing the use of the union card for all laborers, was sought by Delegate McQuinn of the recently organized laborers' union. "So long as craftmen are not ready to quit rather than work with non-union laborers, we can't help taking non-union men," said Delegate Blake of the bricklayers, adding that he was anxious to do all that could be done to enforce the use of the card. Other delegates took a stronger position, declaring that craftmen should insist on having card men around to assist them. As the matter can only be dealt with adequately by the building trades council, the laborers request was merely placed on record. Building trades craftmen will be asked to render every assistance in their power to the weaker organization.

For the ultimate solution of the organization in the various trades, Delegate Holman looked to the inauguration of "Industrial Unionism," in accordance with the Harmon congress resolution. There would be no question of crafts. All would work together for the advancement of labor conditions.

The international brotherhood of bookbinders seeks to become affiliated with the council. In response to a request received last evening the secretary will be supplied with the usual application form.

In a letter to the council a local tailor union urged that the existence of their local be brought to the attention of the organized workers of the city and the union label be demanded by members when purchasing clothing.

A letter from the Amalgamated Society of Garmenters and Jones pointing out that the time is opportune for the organization of millworkers, was referred to the organization committee.

The council filed a communication announcing the convention of the American Federation of Labor, to be held at London, Georgia, on November 15 and subsequent days.

REVENUE OFFICERS IN CONFERENCE Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—The first general conference ever held by United States revenue officers began in this city today and will continue over tomorrow. Between 200 and 400 officers are in attendance. Numerous letters relating to the betterment of the internal revenue service are scheduled for discussion.

The city council of Minneapolis, Minn., passed a resolution giving preference to union labor on all city work.

The workmen's compensation laws of California and Wisconsin went into effect on September 1. They make the employers liable for any injury sustained by an employee in the performance of his duty, include the costs of injury medicine and follow several defenses in actions for damages brought by injured employees and provide for a system of compulsory industrial insurance. In Wisconsin nearly one hundred industrial concerns have already accepted their acceptance of the law.

ONE VOTE EARNED
BY "HONEST" FRANK

Light on the present crisis in China, in which internal disturbances threaten the peace of the empire and the disruption of the government, indicates that the cause of all the trouble is the objection of the reactionaries to the policy of development promised by the government in its railway plans, and the desire to keep the country at a standstill.

There are something like 200 Chinese in Edmonton. If any of these have brought their reactionary tendencies with them to this continent Frank Oliver will have no difficulty in showing them that his policy is exactly in line with their ideas. In fact, not only could Frank Oliver prove to them that he wanted to keep a rich section of the country from being opened up, but that he actually did disrupt a government to prevent the construction of a railway.

By all the rules of the game Frank Oliver is entitled to the votes and influence of the reactionary Chinamen.

A STRANGE IDEA OF THE MEANING OF JUSTICE

A remarkable sidelight on the system of United States justice is shown by the McNamara case, where two men have now been locked up for nearly a year and have never yet got to their preliminary trial.

The greatest arraignment of the Russian system is that men are imprisoned without a trial, but there is a case where in the land of alleged liberty men are kidnapped out of the state in which they live without any compliance with the proper processes and on being taken to another state are held in prison while a private detective who usurps the prerogatives of the public prosecutor writes magazine articles to influence the public mind against the men whom he is trying to convict and who have not yet been even properly indicted, let alone tried.

Certainly they have a strange and wonderful idea of the meaning of the word justice in those United States. If the McNamaras are guilty they should have been hanged months ago, and if they are not guilty Detective Burns should have already put in the front end of a life sentence.

WOMEN WITH FORTUNES
BUT NO VOTES

It seems like a remarkable arrangement that a man who has not sufficient education to tell the difference between a ballot paper and a laundry slip is given the right to vote, while a woman who may have all the college degrees on the calendar and a hundred millions besides has no legal recognition in the control of public affairs.

The idea is sharply accentuated through the fact that some of the greatest fortunes in the world, carrying with them enormous responsibilities, have recently passed into the hands of women. In United States alone there are Mrs. Harriman, Mrs. Russell Sage, Mrs. Gates, Mrs. Pullman, Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Huntington, Mrs. Helly Green, Mrs. Elkins and a dozen others, widowed or spinsters, who each have as much money as would finance a presidential election and who, combined, could control all the railways on the North American continent; yet all of them together could not elect a delegate to a crossroads primary.

SOME FUNNY
THINGS IN LAW

When the attempt was made to incontinentally dismiss Mr. Bouillon from the commissionership Justice Stewart rendered decision in which he said that the humblest navy in the ditch was entitled to a reason why he should be fired. But the city solicitor now says that the charter makes it impossible for the city to sign a law agreement with the street car men containing a clause providing that a dismissed employee shall have the right to an investigation.

It is quite within the bounds of possibility that two such eminent legal minds could come to conclusions seemingly diametrically opposite, and both be right, for there are some funny things in law. But there should be a chart furnished to enlighten those groping in the fog.

The Necessity of Tact

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

In the current number of the Cosmopolitan Magazine Virginia Techum Vanderwater publishes a striking story entitled "Why We Are Living Together." The author has published two other tales, "Why I Left My Husband" and "Why Left My Wife." In this third story the husband and wife patch up a very tattered marriage fabric and go on living together, as the least of two evils.

The point in the narrative which indicates the beginning of the marital trouble is where the wife is unwilling to be agreeable to her husband's wishes. She has been a school teacher, and she finds his friends uncultured and "common," although they occupy positions of influence and wealth. She is of great benefit to the husband's business matters. They are not immoral people, but they do not appeal to the refined tastes of the wife.

She finally consents to accept their offered hospitality, but makes her husband feel that it is a sacrifice on her part, and assures him as they drive home that the evening has been a bore and a misery to her.

One does not need to read farther to know that all the miserable and unendurable circumstances in this household, where God is slain, must be placed at the wife's door.

A woman who is so fearless, so unkind and so unsympathetic as to make her husband unhappy about his friends lacks the mental and moral graces which are the foundation of a happy marriage.

The wife had accepted her husband's home of comfort and found his income very gratifying to her love of luxury. Yet she was unwilling to make a slight sacrifice (and to hide the fact that it was a sacrifice from her husband) in order to help him in the domain of business.

There are many such women. They pride themselves upon possessing culture and discrimination, and they continually wound the feelings of good men by their criticism or their coldness, and drive romance from the home in their desire to be regarded as "superior."

No woman really loves a man unless she feels an eager delight in making her husband popular with his family and friends, no matter if she is conscious that they are her inferiors. Offense is taken at the situation of a young wife is so difficult, and oftentimes there are relatives who render the task next to impossible by their own critical and unkind remarks.

THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY

THIS IS MY 52ND BIRTHDAY.

Marshall P. Wilder.

Marshall P. Wilder, the well known humorist and entertainer, was born in Geneva, N. Y., September 19, 1859.

As an infant he removed with his parents to New York city, where he has since made his home. Owing to a physical disability his education was very limited, the whole of his school life being covered by three or four years.

As a youth he found employment in a New York office, at a salary of $2.00 a week. While thus employed he first used his abilities to entertain, appearing as a reader at drawing-room entertainments. Soon after he began to take advantage to quit his other employment and devote all his time to entertaining.

From 1880 to 1886 he was in Japan, China, Australia and other countries. Mr. Wilder has done considerable journalistic work and is the author of several books.

IT AT THE BAY

generous. A jealous attitude toward the new center.

But where a wife has a deep, abiding love and where the wish to make her husband happy and to be a comfort and aid to him is paramount to every other wish in life she always triumphs over every obstacle and she is the victor and foremost in his heart if he possesses any nobility of character or true manliness.

There is no effort in life worthier than the effort of a wife to fit into the new environment which marriage brings and to study the feelings and cultivate the sympathies and avoid aggravating the weaknesses or faults of her husband's family and friends.

No man should take a wife into his family to live.

However small the place he can give her outside, it is far better for both to begin their new life together there.

Not one wife in ten thousand, not one mother-in-law in twenty thousand are capable of living happily together under one roof.

And where it is not the mother-in-law, it is the sister-in-law or the aunt-in-law or some other relative who renders the position of the wife difficult.

Yet, the really great-hearted, tactful-minded and loving-souled woman can win her way if she loves enough. And this is the first and foremost duty which marriage imposes.

It is a duty which LIFE imposes upon all—to cast a light about the place where we are to live. And to be friends of the people with whom we are thrown; to be agreeable to our associates to bring out the best that is in them—to bear with their faults and make as light of them as we conscientiously can, and to make the most of their virtues.

The men and women who score a real success in a business way are those who win the friendship and affection of their comrades. Any success that is gained without respect is not worth the name. And any power which a woman has over her husband which causes him to be alienated from his old friends and family (family provided they are clean, moral people) is less than worthless—it is unwholesome and does not build happiness for her or him.

Read the story by Mrs. Vanderwater in the September Cosmopolitan and see how foolishly and wantonly one woman destroyed her happiness.

The Strike in England

(By Elbert Hubbard.)

The strike in England should bring home to us with unusual directness the meaning of the present unstable economic condition. The present condition of things cannot continue permanently in the economic state of uncertainty is a menace not only to property but also to the stability of our institutions.

The trend of events is leading forward to some sort of crisis in which the solution of the problem will be wrought out, will have to be wrought out. Some kind of substantial reconciliation between the two warring elements is an eventual necessity.

One alternative to an amicable reconciliation will be the triumph of one of the two to the other of the two. If it reduces to that, it might as well be understood that labor will make no final surrender to capital.

The labor element is too strong, numerically and intellectually, to become permanently the tool of the money element. An adjustment is not sooner or later reached by pacific measures it will be reached by measures that are permanent.

History teaches plainly enough that the tendency of the less favored classes is to work out from under the dictation and domination of the more favored. It is not pleasant to contemplate the apparent setback that would come to civilization by the armed settlement of the controversy.

Whether in England, here or elsewhere, it is to be hoped that it is not necessary to contemplate a situation that is not better than the present one.

There are certain questions that cannot remain indefinitely unsettled, whatever may be the method of solution. It will suffice to say, however, that the labor element is too strong, numerically and intellectually, to be possessed of two unimpaired purposes, and has already won too many victories to consent to be permanently estimated as merely a piece of machinery to be operated and exploited by wealth as means to the interest of wealth.

Labor Element Must Be Considered. Whether justly or unjustly, that is the way in which the employer considers that he is at present regarded. The Christian idea of the inherent worth of a man, of the right he has to respect himself and to respect the rights of his fellow-men, is a thing that is not to be despised.

Jones is seriously considering the tentative offer, and it is said, favorably.

MEL SHEPPARD WILL TRY FOR WORLD'S RECORD

Fred Barney the Edmonton runner who is going to compete in the sprint at the Dominion championship sports on Saturday September 22, is scheduled to arrive in Montreal tomorrow morning at 9:15 o'clock. He will immediately start some light training on the track there and should by Saturday have completely recovered from his four days journey. The meet is being held under the auspices of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association which club has the fastest track in America.

Just to give an idea of the class of athletes which will be on the card to watch Mel Sheppard has to say about the meet. The following is taken from an American paper where he has been training. "I am going to break the world's record for the mile, I believe it can be done in 4:10 and if I have the ability to run it faster than it ever has been run I will certainly do it this time. I have been training on the mile alone for months and will enter nothing but that one event."

Hockey Teams Start to Talk

Amateur Ice Scrapers Begin to Think of Wintery Struggles When Air Gets Cold in Fall—Probable Teams for Coming Season

While the Patriots and their confederates have been talking big things about the promotion of fast hockey in Alberta and the moguls of the east have been scouring their heads over the alleged raids of the western financiers, the amateur hockeyists of Alberta cities have been preparing quietly for a successful season. Last year some of the fastest puck chasing ever seen in Alberta was provided by the Edmonton and Calgary teams. What are the prospects for the coming season?

Of course the ice scrapers of the university are ready for the game. They always are ready for anything. And doubtless when the time comes to don their skates the lightweights from the faculty of learning over the river will be able to hold their own in the same excellent way as last year. There are some good players at the big institution and they always are in condition. Several of last year's stars say they are not going to play this winter but probably when the ice gets hard and the wind whips they will be hard at it as ever. Hagburn, the fast and pugnacious defense man of the educational squad last year says he is not going to play. Brother Dean, whose crossed lightning rushes on left wing were always a feature of their games last year, says he will be out of it. Others say the same thing but the fans can be about safe in taking about half of it.

The Deacons will probably be somewhere near the same as last year so far as the standing goes, but who will be playing is not very definite yet.

The Y. M. C. A. is going to have a team together and doubtless will be putting up the same kind of a fight as in previous seasons, only better. For the past two years the Y. M. C. A. has had a peculiar team. When they were up against the league leaders they would play a brilliant game, but

TUCUMSEES LEAVE TODAY

Toronto, Sept. 19.—The Tucumsees were delighted to hear that the championship of British Columbia was decided and figure that their chances are pretty good to defeat Vancouver. The Indians officially announced that they will leave at 4:30 on Tuesday afternoon, going via Chicago, and expect to reach New York or Chicago this fall. They have been waiting since September 3 and October 7 will be acceptable to him for the game.

After what stay in his home town, Rolter will join Jack Curley in San Francisco, where the two men will look over the property and athletic situation with an eye to promoting bouts during the coming big fair. Rolter is a well known player who leaves for the Golden Gate city in a few days, expects to be gone for about eight months, and has expressed his intention of making San Francisco his future home if the athletic outfit on the coast meets with his approval.

SPLINTERS OF SPORT

Mutt and Jeff have gone to Calgary to spy out the work of the Calgary rugby team. While they are away doing this good work, Responder and Desmond are working over time to fill in. When the two famous horse return, they will have a good story to tell about their adventures and doings while they were away.

Just as the sun was sinking beneath your horizon a gong with an increasing face and sound of respiratory apparatus waited until he could see the whites of his eyes and then fired the "12 blind bird growled, would the bootlegger please?"

If the attendance figures given out for one of the games of the Giants-Bel series in New York, in the recent home stay of the Giants are correct, a new mark for a single day's crowd was made. The report was that 39,000 persons passed through the turnstiles into the stadium. In four consecutive games more than 100,000 persons paid to see the game. The attendance was greater than some Class A clubs draw all season.

ATHLETICS SAYS MURRAY SHOULD BE THE THING

(By T. MORROW)

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—A month ago, when it was in this city, they were seriously talking of making preparations to play off the big season of the Athletics. The Athletics had come over the preliminary round before and come out with a win. They had the equilibrium in a strain. The Phillies had shown up fairly steady in the first division. The Athletics were playing the smoothest kind of a fielding game; their infield is by all odds the finest in baseball. With the blow-up of Detroit there was nothing to it. Both the Athletics, and yet the Quakers are not so confident as you might expect. I look for the Athletics to win out this season in a merry career, as they will probably do the season on the home grounds and will soon be through with the distant West. So, the club that gave them a heap of trouble this season.

CURLER TO GO TO COAST

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Dr. B. F. Rolter left last night for his home in Seattle, Wash., where he went to look over some property. After what stay in his home town, Rolter will join Jack Curley in San Francisco, where the two men will look over the property and athletic situation with an eye to promoting bouts during the coming big fair. Rolter is a well known player who leaves for the Golden Gate city in a few days, expects to be gone for about eight months, and has expressed his intention of making San Francisco his future home if the athletic outfit on the coast meets with his approval.

Basketball at Y. Will Start Soon

Meeting Will Be Held on Wednesday Night to Organize League for Coming Season—Expect There Will Be Six Teams in the Fray This Year

The meeting to organize the senior basketball league at the Y. T. C. A. will be held Wednesday night at eight o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. parlor. It is expected that there will be six teams represented at the meeting: Varsity, Democrats, Wanderers, Colts, Businessmen, and McNamara. At the meeting on Wednesday night the officers for the year will be elected and if possible a schedule drawn up. The teams that are entered this year look much stronger than in any previous year. The Democrats and Wanderers both have strong squads. The Varsity are a fighting bunch. The Colts are an aggregation of ambitious young fellows full to the neck with glider and energy. They are expected to be in the running for the pennant right up to the end. The Business men have been training for the past two years to get into condition for the pink. They have some old experienced players on their line-up and if they are in as good shape as they say they are, why they should win the Dornams.

McNamara are a team from the real estate firm of York and McNamara. They claim to be a bunch of real live ones and can play basketball ball as well as they can the real estate.

If one will drop around to the Y. M. C. A. almost any evening he can see a bunch of live youngsters practicing around the floor of the gymnasium. The first evening of classes in Y. M. C. A. are getting into condition. To the uninitiated they look as though they were getting ready to get into an asylum.

The prospects of the winners of the league playing off with Calgary for the championship of Canada are already being considered and if it is possible to arrange home and home games under suitable conditions they will be played.

Judging by the way basketball has been supported during the past two years it should not be a difficult matter to meet the expense of arranging the inter-city games satisfactorily. Calgary has always had a good team and so far the games between the two associations have been about equal divided.

FIGHTERS IN GREAT SHAPE

MICKEY RYAN AND EDDIE MARINO ARE BOTH IN PINK OF CONDITION.

Mickey Ryan and Eddie Marino are over the hardest part of their training now and in the best of condition. Marino is said to be fifty per cent better than he has ever been before and Mickey—well the fight fans know that Mickey always is in pretty good shape so that when he has trained as hard as he has for this fight, now there is bound to be something doing.

The bout, which is scheduled to go twelve rounds will take place in the Lyceum Theatre on Friday night. Some preliminaries have been arranged for the event.

Mr. Ryan, Mickey's father, arrived in the city yesterday with the intention of living here. He expects to bring the remainder of the family, including Pat, who is also some scrapper later, and probably settle in Edmonton.

Topsey Hartel standing on the oncoming lines with arms folded looking for some move by the pitchers that might give him a chance to get into the signal to the batsman. When baffled the Athletics batsmen look disappointed.

They have been looking for such an opportunity to get into the game for the last three years, and many of the American league players anticipate the Quakers' move.

I believe that Mack has the best drill team in the business, but several of the players are being overworked. Baker, Berry and O'Rourke are the live wires and full of fire. This team does not have the same kind of a heart, then hard and cunningly, and I am convinced that the team selected by the Athletics will win the game along interesting lines, and go after the Mack boys with a much improved line-up.

The Giants downed the Mack team a few years ago for the honors, with Christy Mathewson as the outstanding star for the Athletics. Mack has a team 25 per cent stronger to make the Athletics sweat.

This decline is caused by the long-drawn-out tie it takes before a decision can be rendered. Take the championship Athletics today, with a lead that should satisfy the most timid, and yet these Quakers are kept on edge and hot, fearing that some thing may yet happen to snatch victory from their grasp.

I believe that every member of the leading clubs of the National League is today affected with the long race and the heat of the three straight ahead.

TWO GAMES FOR RICHMOND

OOTOLE NOT OUT OF IT YET.

(Special to The Capital.)

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 19.—While Fletcher Jones of Chicago has gone to Boston to see his son, he has not been able to get into the game. It is expected that he will have O'Toole in shape to get in the game within a week should Manager Clark require his services, and the statement is made that the Pittsburgh fans will surely be permitted to see him in action again before the season closes.

GYM CLASSES TO START ON MONDAY NEXT WEEK AT Y.

Next Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. a symposium will be open night, it being the first evening of classes in Y. M. C. A. muscle factory. The only classes to be inaugurated at the present time will be the Dornams, in addition to the regular symposium exercises there will be an exhibition basketball match between the Dornams and the Dornams. There will be a few fancy stunts pulled off for the edification of the throngs of visitors who will be expected will crowd the gallery to the rail.

The Gramscian looks fine in its new coat of paint and varnish and the baskets look as though it would be impossible to miss them so new are they.

Industrial Laws Are Ever Before Australia

Settlement of Industrial Disputes Finds no End and the Making of Legislation to Meet Emergencies is a Chief Occupation of the Solons

(By R. Cameron.)

Sydney, N.S.W., Sept. 19.—Of the making of laws for the prevention and settlement of industrial disputes there seems in this country, and particularly in this state, to be no end. The system is established and its principle permanent, after a voluntary arbitration act in 1901, the Industrial Arbitration Act was established, which introduced the system of settling disputes by a judicial proceeding in a court, presided over by a judge, which included representatives of employers and employees. This tribunal soon became a permanent fixture in the eyes of the public, and has had to be retained, at all events in form, though its character is being substantially altered.

Apparently the hostility of the militant labor leagues, who fought these boards bitterly from the outset, still remains. But they have succeeded too of most of their relevancy in Australia. Both systems have been tried in New South Wales.

Annulled Union Clause.

The act of 1910 was based upon the recognition of trade unions, so other bodies could approach the court. Moreover, the court, in its award, was empowered to, and did from time to time, include in its award provisions making it compulsory upon employers to engage unionists in preference to non-unionists. Mr. Wade's act of 1908 annulled this part of the system. It drew no distinction between the two classes, so far as the privileges of the system were concerned. Now it is proposed that the country shall revert to the original plan, with modifications. Preference is to be given, but only under certain conditions. One is that the union seeking it must open its doors freely to any reputable citizen who wishes to join, on his compliance with proper conditions of entry. Another is that the court, when awarding it, must be satisfied that it will conduce to industrial peace, or to the better observance of an award. If these conditions are complied with, both of them being, so to speak, matters of opinion, it is to be obligatory upon the court to grant the desired preference, though in so doing neither legal principles nor legal methods can be relied upon. That is a very serious matter.

Modify Strike Question.

An interesting modification of the existing system of penalties for striking is also submitted. Anything in the nature of a strike is still an offence, punishable by imprisonment, but under the new system it is to be an offence only when the organization striking has failed to give due notice to the minister of the existence of a state of unrest likely to lead to a conflict. This will allow the minister and his officers opportunity to intervene, with a view to preventing the unrest from culminating in a strike. On the other hand, there is the very serious qualification that if his intervention should prove unsuccessful, presumably a strike will be free from any penalty, so far as the law is concerned. That would be fatal to the whole design.

Preference to Unionists.

Then again, a great deal of interest attaches to the proposals affecting preference for unionists. This is already the source of no inconsiderable trouble. It is unquestionably a very serious question, as the vital question of the efficiency of the workman is sought to be ignored. The unwillingness of employers, and of a very large section of the public, to accept a system which enables an industrial tribunal to force upon them a member of a union who for any reason they may distrust or dislike in preference to a non-unionist whom they want is natural enough. But it is also natural that the feeling of the unionist should be that the benefits of unionism which he and his fellows have won should be conferred to those who have made the sacrifices by which they have been won. It is replied that many of those who bear the heat and burden of the day have passed and are passing away. It is replied that there is the reminder that it is only by the efforts and the sacrifices of unionists today that still more improved conditions can be secured. The uniform series of successes and expansions that have so far attended the unions deprive both parties ceded it, has been the fact that the most numerous and powerful union—the Newcastle miners, the Broken Hill miners, the wharf laborers, and the coal trimmers, have steadily defied the statutory prohibitions of strikes, summing, as they do, some 7,000 members between them. It is obvious that the task of enforcing compliance, or of inflicting punishment on all the members concerned, is almost impossible. Mr. Bodey, the minister, with more regard for the political influence exercised by these unions upon the labor leagues and their political representatives than for the principles of parliament, or constitutional principles, proposes to exempt these four unions from compulsory compliance with the provisions of the new measure. They may come under it if they like. The way is made as easy and profitable for them as possible. But there will be no compulsion, and it will be easy to continue outside the scope of the legislation in a position of exceptional privilege and supremacy they may do so. In that event they will be provided with the assistance of standing committee, appointed by the government, in settling disputes with their employers.

Only the Law.

This obsequiousness of parliament to industrial corporations is not a little startling to persons who entertain the idea that laws are intended to bind rich and poor, weak and strong, equally. The minister justifies the extraordinary exemptions on the ground that it is no use his shutting his eyes to the fact that these unions will not avail themselves of the advantages of industrial measures, nor obey his injunctions unless they so desire, and the government cannot force them to do so. In other words, they and their agents stand above the law. Of course, the minister is reasoning points to the conclusion that legislation of this kind should not be passed at all, but he does not avoid the point. It is certain they will not pass in law without the strongest assistance. In three recent strikes they seem repugnant to liberty and democracy as well as to the principles of constitutional government.

A Few Principles.

These matters, though they are in a sense details of interest, have not been discussed within the last year, and practically every union garment worker is employed, so great is the dependence of the state on the labor. The average man at which factory employs him in Hungary and Spain is ten years.

ANOTHER CASE OF VENGEANCE FOUND

WICKED PLOT OF ORGANIZED
GANG MEANT TO SLAY
MAN DISLIKED

(Globe Cable Service)

Naples, Sept. 19.—Another case of vengeance meted out by the supreme tribunal of the Camorra has come to light at Torre del Greco, on the Bay of Naples, where five years ago Genaro Guicciolo, the betrayer of the Camorra, was slain to death, with forty-seven dagger thrusts.

Two brothers, named Speranza, endowed with Herculean strength and courage, incurred the wrath of the secret society for having repeatedly refused an invitation to join the Camorra because on several occasions they had not a helping hand to the police in arresting dangerous fugitives from justice. Giovanni Speranza, the elder of the two brothers, had under prosecution even challenged the chief of the Torre del Greco Camorra, Costantino Hivierolo, to a duel, which was stung to revolvers with a decisive result. It was then resolved that Speranza must be got rid of, and by the aid of Camorra witnesses charge of having attempted to extort money by threats with a loaded revolver from a local citizen was trumped up against Speranza, who, in consequence, was arrested and kept indefinitely in prison awaiting trial.

The whole affair has since been proved to have been a wicked plot on the part of the powerfully organized branch of the Camorra at Torre del Greco, which moreover, succeeded in passing at all the courts of law on the pretext that unless the secret society intervened her son's incarceration would probably be prolonged by several years.

Giovanni Speranza, on learning of this trick, wrote from the prison cell against Giovanni Speranza. Lots were cast for the task of executing the deed, and it fell to a Camorrist ex-convict named Pasquale Patumbo, who was called and ordered to carry out the mandate in Torre del Greco prison itself at the earliest possible moment.

On the following day, Patumbo, pretending to be drunk, floundered a formidable-looking knife in the streets of the town and got himself arrested by a Carabinieri, being well aware that he would be relegated to the same prison room where Speranza was incarcerated. No immediate opportunity of carrying out the deed of blood presented itself. In fact, Patumbo soon conceived a fellow-feeling for Speranza, and, under the influence of the plot, and in great haste the Camorra might at any moment dispatch other less scrupulous assassins to the prison, urged Speranza to flee afar, which he managed to do after tearing asunder the iron bars of the prison window.

HOT WEATHER BRINGS NEW KIND OF PLAGUE

Armies of Ants, Winged and Wingless
Come in Great Hordes Upon the City of Paris

(Globe Cable Service)

Paris, Sept. 18.—The hot weather in Paris has brought with it a plague of a new, curious, and unpleasant kind. It is a plague of ants, and the ants are both wingless and winged. The wingless ants infest the central quarters of the city, coming up by hundreds of thousands through the cracks in the parquet flooring, and forming armies which march through crevices in the woodwork and plaster of the walls.

The confectioners' and fruiterers shops are suffering a great deal from the plague and tradesmen are trying to fight it with vinegar. They put this in the cracks and crevices and everywhere where they think it possible to do so. The winged ants are also coming in great numbers, and they disfigure the smell of it and go elsewhere. The winged ants are also coming in great numbers, and they disfigure the smell of it and go elsewhere. ### IMMIGRATION'S UP TO THE STANDARD

LOWEST NUMBER DURING ONE WEEK 34, HIGHEST 228 IN ONE WEEK

Immigration to the Edmonton district cannot be said to have varied at any time during the summer months in spite of the natural tendency for the number of arrivals to be less during August and the early part of September, while the farmers across the border are busy with their harvest and employing every available man who otherwise would be seeking other fields of activity, among which the Canadian Northwest looms large at the present time.

Data regarding immigration furnished at the immigration hall on First Street shows that the lowest record for arrivals during a single week is thirty-four. This was during a week about the middle of August, and even during the seven days here recorded, 230 persons visited the hall seeking information respecting the farm lands of the Edmonton district or chances for employment.

During the week which closed on Saturday the number of arrivals at the hall numbered seventy-two, and ninety-eight people visited the hall to interview the agents of immigration in the information department, and to sign a singular coincidence was exactly the same number as the Canadian immigration seekers as visited the hall during the week previous.

People from overseas points in large numbers to arrive at the hall in larger numbers than during the months of July and August. A Hungarian family of seven and a Norwegian family of five in addition to a single Hungarian man arrived at the hall on Sunday.

HEAVY DOCKET SUPREME COURT

THIRTY CASES COME UP IN COURT EN BANC—TWO JUDGES MAT SIT.

With the opening of the sessions of the full court this morning, begins a season of litigation which promises to be the busiest in the history of the province. Twenty cases will come up for trial at the court on Monday, this week, all of these with one exception being appeals, the other being a stated case. On Tuesday of next week the regular fall sessions of the supreme court will be opened, and it is possible that in order to dispose of the very long list, two judges may sit, one occupying the court room usually used for district court cases, petty crimes making up the greater part of the list. At the district court which opens tomorrow, Judge Taylor presiding, a considerable number of these will be disposed of.

This morning was taken up by the settling down of cases which will come up for hearing in the following order: Frank W. Hunt, plaintiff (respondent), and William J. McNamara and David McFarlane, defendants (appellants).

Richard Beliveau Co., Ltd., et al., plaintiff (respondent), and Murray A. Miller and Audrey W. Robinson, defendant (appellant).

Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, defendant (appellant), and E. B. Alford, B. P. Wickham, and E. A. Wickham, carrying on business as "Alford & Wickham," plaintiffs (respondents).

Daniel Balke, plaintiff (appellant), and City of Edmonton, defendant (respondent).

Greene-Swift Co., plaintiff (appellant) and Gilbert G. Lawrence, defendant (respondent).

J. P. Duggan, plaintiff (respondent) and W. W. Wadleigh, defendant (appellant).

Two members of press party leave for Winnipeg today to gather material.

Two of the members of the British Press association who visited Edmonton on Saturday, Sunday and yesterday went west this morning to the head of steel on the Grand Trunk Pacific to secure material for articles on railway construction in Alberta. They were Wilfrid Butterfield of the London Financial News, and C. D. Lucas representing The Times. The two newspaper men will go as far west as the Athabasca river.

On account of the unfavorable condition of the roads the British editors were unable to take the proposed trip into the Glover Bar district yesterday afternoon. The visitors left the city last evening at 5:30 o'clock on the G.P. train for Mirror and Camrose, after spending the afternoon in the city gathering information from various sources provincial and civic agencies, and most offices, in the activities of which they were interested.

On their trip to Camrose they were accompanied by R. C. W. Lett, travelling passenger and collection agent for the G.P.R., who came to Edmonton on Friday to meet them here.

A unanimous call has been extended to W. Dufour of Kertley, Manitoba, to turn his arrival at the hall on Sunday.

THE RUSH FOR HOUSES

Is growing stronger each day, and we would say to the party who wants a comfortable home for the winter (which is drawing near) that our list of houses, whether east, west, north or south from the business centre, is complete. We can show you houses and give you possession at once in the west end, at prices below their real value and on terms that is far ahead of renting.

Following we submit for your inspection just a few from our long list of real live snaps in the H. B. R.

13th St., north of Jasper, lot 166; eight rooms, fully modern, all in first-class shape. $5000
Easy payments. Possession at once.

13th St., north of Jasper, first block, west side of street. Seven rooms, fully modern, all in good shape and a nice, high lot. Will give possession at once; easy terms. Price. . . . . $4600

18th St., new and beautiful, seven rooms, fine large basement, one-half block from car line; easy terms. Give possession any day. Price . . . . $6000

Don't stay away because you fail to see what you want here; come to our office and look over our list. Our autos are always at your disposal, and we shall be pleased to take you over the city and show you the particular houses you are interested in.

Farm Buyers

We are selling large tracts of land at prices which are sure to make every purchaser a fine profit. We own several ready-made farms close to station and good markets.

If you are in the market for a farm, either for an investment or for a home, and will let us show you over our land, you will say our prices are right and the quality of our lands is the best to be had, and we know we can suit you for terms.

Another Money-maker For the Sub-Divider

We have a quarter section close enough to Athabasca Landing for sub-division purposes. Price and terms are right. Don't miss this one.
